

2026 MESO FALL CONFERENCE

November 4-5 | Shawnee, Oklahoma

Leaves are falling and registration is calling: Register NOW for MESO's 2026 Fall Conference!

This fall's forecast is calling for fresh ideas, new connections, and plenty of opportunities to learn! At MESO's 2026 Fall Conference, explore topics ranging from leadership and teamwork to community development and innovation. Connect with fellow public power professionals, gain fresh perspectives, and discover practical ideas you can take home and put to work for your team and community.

The MESO Fall Conference is full of sessions that will address some of the challenges facing today's municipal leaders and employees, including: The Fentanyl Crisis, How Management Can Promote Safety, Stress Management, and Claims 101.

Meet our featured speaker, Ron Holifield!

Ron Holifield brings nearly two decades of city management experience and is the founder of Strategic Government Resources (SGR), which has grown into one of the nation's leading local government executive search and leadership development firms.

In his session, "Servant Leadership and AI," Ron will explore how servant leadership principles can guide leaders in an increasingly AI-driven workplace. He will examine how leaders can use AI to enhance communication, empower teams, improve decision-making, and create greater value — while keeping people, purpose, and service at the center.
